and the INDEPENDENT and Standard, Professor Steere, of Butte, read a highly instructive paper on object teaching, which was well received and was full of good suggestions The "Province of Literature in Public Schools" was a paper by Miss Carrie Cox, of Butte; and Professor Hahn, of Helena, read a paper on "Writing" and gave a practical illustration of his methods of teaching penmanship. A paper, being a plea for the Metre system, by Professor Trophagen, of Deer Lodge, met with general indersement, that system being consid ered more simple and useful than the existing systems and was growing in popularity.

The afternoon session opened with consideration of round table topics left over from vesterday, and Mrs. President Cummins vacated the chair for Superintendent Gannon. The teachers' meeting was amply discussed, and the holding of monthly meetings where five or more teachers are assembled for mutual benefit and instraction was advocated. Mrs. Cummins thought it necessary, and Prof. Templeton told how the teachers at Miles City had weekly meetings. The salary of teachers next came up and was discussed at length. The male teachers seemed to think it outside the province of teachers to: ttempt to regulate salaries, except Prof. Russell, who deplored the state of affairs existing where any little upstart could go to a county institute after graduating from a high school, and after onte. He wanted to see the standard of in-temectuality among teachers raised and their salaries increased, and strongly op-posed county institutes. Mrs. Commin-wanted all teachers to receive equal pay for equal work. Mr. Super said salar would regulate themselves; the whole question settled right down to the law of supply and demand. Michaeler, of because, thought that policy an important figure in how long a trac will hold her position, and said it depen consi erably upon how well they slood in with the trustees. Miner said teacher should remain as long as they do good work and was opposed to any specific time, and this latter sentiment generally prevailed. "Attendance and Punctuality" came in for much discussion, and it seemed to be the opinion that the best way to secure promp and regular attendance rested with the dividuality of the teachers. Many teacher explaned their methods of securing atten dance. Miss Hard, of Missoula, had several devices, but said anything would do to get em there. Here the exercises ended, and irs, Cummins resumed the chair. The committee on legislation recommended revising the school law by the legislature to have a committee with State Superintend ent Gannon as chairman, attorney-general as legal adviseτ, and the legislature to appoint some suitable person, who shall report to the second state legislature. The committee in constitution recoimended changing the name to Montana State reachers' association, each member to pay a fe of $1 for enrollment; that a committee be appointed to frame a permanent constitu-tion. The chair appointed Prof. Russeli Butte, Prof. Young, fielena, Prof. Temple ton, Miles Caty, as such committee. The committee on president's address reporter among other things the hearty endor of the following sentences in Mrs. Commins able paper: "That school a ssions be short ened from one to three hours;', "that teachers who have no interest in school wor stay away from these gatherings, and the school boards should more fully appreciate those who do attend;" "that the number days before the close of the school ywhether they are to remain during the following year," "that a higher standard cholarship be required of teachers, and hat their personal characters be above re-

EUROPEAN POLITICS.

William's Last Move Likely to Make Mach opyright 1889 by New York Associated Press Berlin, Dec. 28 .- Prince Bismarck is ander the weather, but is apparently not one of the victims of influenza. His condition does not occasion any alarm, but he is ill enough to compel him to give up almost entirely the effort to transact business, and to prevent his presence at the court New Year's day. His doctors oppose is desire to reappear in the Reichstag and take part in the debate on socialist law or military credits or any subject likely to irritate him. In responding to the compliments of the diplomatic reception on New Year's day, the emperor will make a short and pacific declaration, the presumption being that the royal and imperial word on this occasion gives the key note for Europe

All society is now interested in the coming fancy dress ball which the emperor is to give at the Schloss, where every one of the guests must appear in oriental costume.

An exceedingly interesting discussion is carried on in private life everywhere, and e of 400 marks inflicted upon Dr. Dachler, editor of the Stantsburger Zeitung a constraint since the sortistic sheet, which libelled Herr Singer, the socialist, It attacked him vigorously because he posed publicly as a socialist and the friend of the people, while in fact he is the health of a factory for making woman's closks and similar garments in which the "sweating" system a practiced at the expense of many girls amployed by him. Hitherto the exercise of royal ency has been restricted to state car or the emperor to thus interfere and stand For the emperor to thus interfere and stand of tween justice and an accused person in a mere case of private interests is so plain a substitution of royal caprice for the law of the land, that everybody an understand it, and therefore everybody is profoundly moved by it. The journals cannot ignore the subject, but they are obliged to touch it with the greatest causion, for fear of prosecution. Liberals of all sindes discuss it in private, however, and it is the universal theme. The nation lists intensely regret the incident, and it days into the hands of the progressists and occasions on the eve of an election, with a challets on the eve of an election, with a lear demonstration of a gross abuse of ower. This incident will confirm the naonal liberals in their inclination to refus o vote, as it stands, the expulsion clause of the socialist bill. This party now groposes, is a compromise, that it will vote for the expulsion clause if the application of that spulston clause if the application of that lause is limited to socialists proven to be negaged in conspiracy against the state, and if it shall not apply to the mere advocy of socialism in the press or on the rosman. It is improbable that Bismarck will accept this compromise, and the solitical future will take shape from this s the starting point. The liberal spirit of he national liberal party, quickened by the packler ine dent, will make it impossible for that party to yield on this expulsion lause; without this party, it cannot be car-iause; without this party, it cannot be car-red. Prince Bismarck will therefore with-draw the bill and dissolve the reichstag. An exchange of views with the English g vernment regarding the decree of the pro sional government in Brazil concerning sturalization, has caused Prince Bismarck abandon his intention to take any im aediate action. Recent despatches from tio Janeiro have influenced England, Gerasny and Italy to agree in ignoring the aturalization decree and other irregular cts of the revolutionary leaders. The genral conviction grows here that the new gov-rument is merely a military junto, which unstable and will be swept away even be-re the date to which it has postponed the
